4 PAYE (Pay As You Earn) for foreign workers

Since you are new in Norway and work onshore here, you'll generally fall under the PAYE scheme when you pay tax. That means you are taxed at a fixed percentage*, and that your employer will deduct the tax before paying your salary. If you want to pay tax according to the PAYE scheme, you do not tick the box below.

You can choose to be taxed under the general tax rules instead of the PAYE scheme. Make your choice by ticking the box below, or by applying for a new tax deduction card later on in the year. If you opt out of the PAYE scheme, you cannot re-join the scheme this year. If you do not meet the conditions to join the scheme, please tick below to be taxed under general tax rules.

I opt to not join the PAYE scheme, and I choose to pay tax according to the general tax rules.

*Ask us for information about the applicable rate, or go to our website.

How to complete the application for a tax deduction card/advance tax for foreign citizens

1. Personal details and contact information

Enter your full name in the order shown on the form. State your Norwegian national identity number/D number or date of birth, your gender, citizenship and country of birth (country of birth is optional). Enter an e-mail address and a telephone number (including the country/dialling code) where we can contact you.

2. Address in home country or address after your stay in Norway

Enter the address in your home country or another address you're planning to travel to after you leave Norway. If your address changes, it's important that you notify the Norwegian Tax Administration of your new address. Then we can send you post. If you do not know where you're going, enter your postal address in your home country.

3. Stays in Norway last year

This information is required in order to decide whether you can be part of the PAYE scheme this year. You still need to check and change your tax return for last year.

4. PAYE (Pay As You Earn)

- PAYE (Pay As You Earn): If you're part of the PAYE scheme, you do not submit a tax return, nor do you receive a tax assessment notice. When your work stay in Norway is over, you're generally also up to date and finished with your taxes in Norway. Next year, you'll receive a receipt that shows your income and the amount of tax you paid.
- Ordinary tax rules: You'll receive a tax return that shows your income and the amount of tax you paid. You must check that your tax return is correct, and you must make changes if something is missing or incorrect. You'll receive a tax assessment notice that will indicate whether you have paid too much or too little tax.

5. About your current stay

Tick the box for where your workplace is. If you've got more than one job, you can tick more than one box. Then tick the box for the employment type that best describes your situation. State the date of your arrival and first working day. If you know which date will be your last working day and your departure date, please state this too. If you live and stay in Norway during your work stay(s), you must state the municipality you were resident in on 1 January. If you were not a resident on 1 January, state the first municipality you lived/worked in this year. If you do not spend the night in Norway during your work-related stay(s), you must state the first municipality you worked in. If you carry out all your work abroad, you must state the municipality where your employer has their business address.

6. Employer you're employed by/receive salary from

Enter the name and organisation number of the employer you're working for or have received a job offer from.

7. Salary and remunerations from employer

State how much taxable income you expect to receive from your employer this year in NOK. If you receive board fees, tick the box for this. You must also state how much of your salary concerns board fees

8. Own business

If you run your own business, you must state the organisation number and expected business income this year. Your business income must include profits from sole proprietorships and businesses assessed as a partnership.

9. Other income

If you own real property in Norway, you must state your expected taxable income from real property. If at the end of the year you've stayed in Norway for 183 days or less in the last 12 months, and if you at the year end have not stayed in Norway for more than 270 days in the last 36 months, you do not have to state other capital income than income from real property or moveable property in Norway. If at the end of the year you've stayed in Norway for more than 183 days in the last 12 months, or if at the end of the year you've stayed in Norway for more than 270 days in the last 36 months, you must state all (global) capital income.

10. Identity

If you've been issued with a residence permit in Norway, you'll find your DUF number on your residence permit or registration certificate.

Identity document

The fields are required if you do not have a Norwegian national identity number or D number already. Type of identity document is the type of ID document that is presented, e.g. a passport or national identity card. Identity document number is the number of the document, e.g. passport number or driving licence number. Name of issuer is the name of the agency that issued the document, e.g. Oslo Police District, the Norwegian Public Roads Administration or the Swedish Tax Agency. The country of issue is the country in which the document was issued. Valid from is the date from which the document is valid. Valid to is the date until which the document is valid.

11. og 12. Your present address and postal address in Norway

We need you to provide at least one address where we can contact you. If you plan to commute to Norway on a daily or weekly basis, you do not have to state a present address in Norway, in addition to in your home country. If so, state the postal address where we can reach you while you're staying in Norway in item 12. If you've stated your present address in Norway, you only have to state your postal address in item 12 if it differs from your present address in item 11. If you receive your post at another person's postal address, you must enter this person's name in the c/o field. If your address changes, it's important that you inform the Tax Administration of your new address. Do this at www.skatteetaten.no/contact (log in using your electronic ID) or submit the form "Notification of a new/changed postal address".

13. Date and signature
